What's inside

- 30 calling cards (pages 8-12), 6 to a page and big: one picture and the skill in words
- 30 boards (pages 13-42), 5 by 5, a picture and words in every square and a FREE space in the middle; the same 30 in black and white (pages 49-78) with black-and-white cards (pages 44-48)
- Skill list (page 3), call sheet with three orders (page 4), worked example (page 5; the call sheet doubles as the answer key for checking a winner), student page (page 6), find-someone-who mixer for grades 3 to 5 (page 7), type-in boards (pages 43 and 79), blank markers (page 80), note home (page 81)

Set up

Print one board per player and the calling-card pages. Cut the cards apart on the dashed lines (straight cuts only). Print the blank markers page or use counters, beans or dot markers. Laminate the boards to use them again.

How to play

1. Give each player a board and markers. The caller shuffles the cards or follows an order on the call sheet.
2. The caller turns a card, shows the picture and reads the skill: "I share." Players say it back.
3. A player who has that picture covers it. The FREE space counts as covered from the start. The caller ticks the skill on the call sheet.
4. A row, a column, a diagonal or the four corners wins. The winner calls Bingo and reads the covered squares; check them on the call sheet. Play for a full board when there is time.

Three ways to level it

- Starting: show the card and read it; players find the matching picture on their board.
- Building: read the skill without showing the card; players find the words and check them with the picture.
- Ready for more: after each call, ask "When could you try this?" and take one or two answers before the next card.

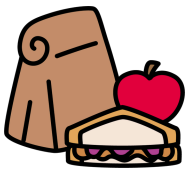

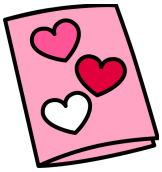

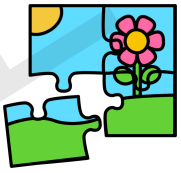

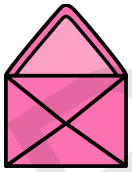

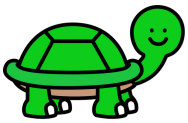

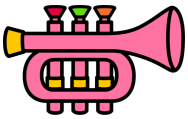

About the skills

These are everyday ways to be a friend, shown as a game for practice and talking. It is not a program and it does not replace the supports a student's team plans. Add or swap skills on the type-in boards (pages 43 and 79).
