Money Bingo

40 coin groups 30 boards grades K to 2 color and ink saver

What's inside

- 40 calling cards (pages 6-7): each one shows the value (27¢), the words and the coins that make it
- 30 boards (pages 8-37), 4 by 4: 16 coin groups on each and no free space; the same 30 in black and white (pages 40-69) with black-and-white cards (pages 38-39)
- The coin values page (page 3), call sheet and answer key (page 4), worked example (page 5), 24 blank markers (page 70), note home (page 71)

Set up

Print one board per player and the calling-card pages. Cut the cards apart on the dashed lines (straight cuts only). Print the blank markers page or use counters, beans or dot markers. Laminate the boards to use them again.

How to play

1. Give each player a board and markers. Look at the coin values page together first.
2. The caller turns a card and says the value: "Twenty-seven cents." Players say it back.
3. Each player counts the coins on the board. A group that adds up to that value gets a marker. The caller ticks the value on the call sheet.
4. A row, a column, a diagonal or the four corners wins. The winner says Bingo and tells how many cents each covered group is; check them on the call sheet.

Three ways to level it

- Starting: hold up the card so players can match the coins to the coins on their board, and name each coin out loud.
- Building: say the cents only; players count their groups to find it.
- Ready for more: say the coins instead ("one quarter, two pennies") and have the group call out the total before anyone covers.

About the coins

The coins are clip art of a penny, a nickel, a dime and a quarter, front and back, drawn at the size the real coins compare. Every group has its own total, so a call matches one group on a board. Groups hold one to four coins and are listed biggest coin first.
