How to use it

- Step 1: print the cover page (page 3) and two or three coupon pages. Students color, cut on the dashed lines and choose coupons.
- Step 2: stack the cover on top of the coupons with the shaded edges lined up on the left. A grown-up staples through the shaded edge.
- Step 3: students write the "Use on" lines, make the envelope (page 9) and give the book on Mother's Day.
- Fillable and print: type into the lines on a device, or print and write by hand. Ink-saver copies are on pages 11-18.

My prep notes

Day we make the books: _____

Pages I will print: _____

Students who need pieces pre-cut: _____

Who will staple: _____

Day the books go home: _____

Every coupon is an offer a child can really keep, and all of them are the store's own wording. The cover pieces say "Mom", "Grandma", "Aunt", "Dad", "Grandpa" or "My Neighbor", and one has a blank line, so every child has someone to give the book to. Coupons are small and the same size, so pieces can be mixed freely.

Note to Families

Print and send home with the finished coupon book.

Dear family of

For Mother's Day, your child made a coupon book for a mom or special person: a grandparent, an aunt or uncle, a neighbor, a caregiver, or anyone who is important to your child. Each coupon is a promise to help or to spend time together.

How you can enjoy it

- Read the coupons together and let your child pick the first one to use.
- When a coupon is used, your child writes the day on the "Use on" line.
- Keep the envelope somewhere you will see it.
- A coupon for a hug or a story takes only a few minutes.

A note from my teacher, in my own words:
