What's inside

- 4 blank portrait pages (pages 3-6): 2 with a head outline (an oval, and head and shoulders), 2 without (a round mirror frame and a picture frame)
- Look and draw (7): a finished example next to a blank head and shoulders
- Face parts at three levels (8-11): read and color, cut and glue the words (8 word pieces), write the words
- Draw and write (12-13): All About Me, and Things I Like
- A face craft (14-15): 8 pieces to color, cut and glue
- A class data page (16), a family letter (17), credits (18)

Five days, one activity a day

- Day 1 — Look and draw. Talk about the example on page 7, then each child draws on the blank beside it or on any blank portrait (3-6). A hand mirror at the table helps children look before they draw.
- Day 2 — Face parts. Name the parts of a face together. Each child does the face-parts page at their level (8, 9-10 or 11).
- Day 3 — Draw and write. Page 12 for a drawing and three sentences, page 13 for four things the child likes.
- Day 4 — Craft. Color the eight pieces, cut on the dashed lines, glue each piece on its faint twin, then draw the hair with crayons.
- Day 5 — Gallery. Display the portraits side by side and let each child tell about theirs.

Three levels on face parts

- ● Starting Page 8. The words are already printed beside each part; the child reads and colors.
- ■ Building Pages 9-10. Cut the eight word pieces and glue each in the box beside its part.
- ▲ Ready for more Page 11. The child writes each word, copying from the word bank at the top.

Levels are marked with a shape, not a number, so children are not comparing papers. The key on page 16 says where each part is.

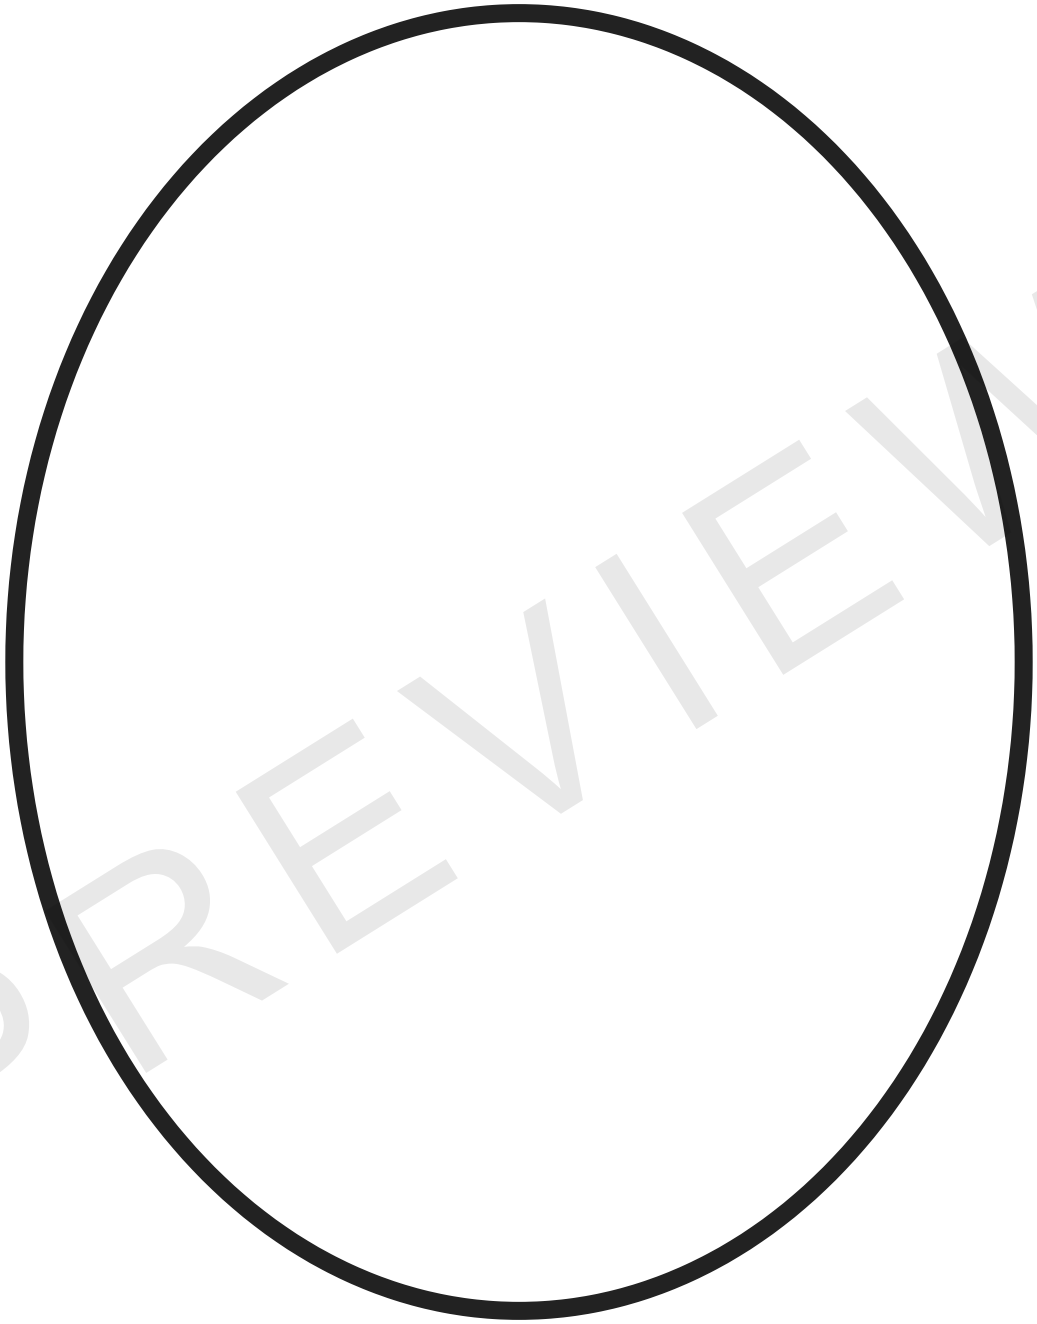

Prep

Print on regular paper. Print pages 10 and 15 on card stock if you can. Crayons, scissors and glue sticks are the only supplies. Both cutting pages have their eight pieces in a grid, so each cut is one straight line. The example child is invented and drawn, and no real person appears in this unit.
